FIAC May Be Canceled But the Show Must Go On. Here Are 8 Must-See Exhibitions During the Paris Art Week

Cindy Sherman and Wu Tsang are among our picks in Paris this week.

“Hélène Delprat: Je déteste mes peintures. I hate my paintings...” at Christophe Gaillard
Through November 7, 2020

As the show's title indicates, Delprat's work is suffused with self deprecation, and yet, the artist says she persists because it's her nature to keep doing things despite the pain they cause. In this case, it's to our benefit, as the large-scale installation works combine fictional characters and universal themes in a delightful combination.
